

Abstract Of The Disclosure

The invention relates to a monitor for monitoring at least one optical signal parameter in an optical fibre having an access region of reduced cladding sufficient to allow access to the evanescent field. The monitor includes an optical element mountable adjacent to the access region of an optical fibre which optical element is capable of obtaining access to the evanescent field to enable use of the data therein to derive the at least one optical signal parameter.